Job 1: Letter

Key the following information as a letter using the Style & Reference Manual. Correct any spelling and punctuation errors you find.

This letter is to Jane Grace, Account Number 126548 of 1265 Washington Street, Indianapolis, IN 46240. The letter is from Harvey Rosen. The subject of this letter is account balance. Use the date of December 15 of the current year. Copy the letter to Nancy Wells.

The body of the letter should read as follows:

Thank you for being a valued client of Digital Solutions. We are reaching out to you with some important information regarding your account.

This letter is to serve as notification to the receipt of this letter that a balance is still owed on your account with us here at Digital Solutions. Your account balance is $2,654.28. This includes all services received up through the date of this letter. PLEASE SUBMIT PAYMENT TODAY.

We understand that this might have been overlooked, but, would request that this balance is submitted by the due date of your next billing cycle. It is important to clear this balance and bring this account in good standing. Failure to make payment will result in loss of services or suspension of your account. Please take time to call us to take care of this outstanding balance due on your account.

We did receive your enclosed letter of intent to pay, but still have not received payment following your projected timeline. Therefore, we unfortunately must cease the payment plan you requested, and ask that you bring your account current. We understand things do happen, however, non-payment has left us no choice but to send this account to collections if not paid in full.

Should you have any questions regarding the balance on your account, or the intent to collect, please feel free to reach out to us direct at 601-555-5555. Your account manager will be more than happy to assist you with bringing your account current. Remember that if we need to turn this account over to collections, you will be charged enormous fees that will result in a higher balance that will need to be paid.

We appreciate your business and hope you will contact soon regarding this outstanding balance.

Job 2: Report

Key the following information as a report using the Style & Reference Manual. Correct any spelling and punctuation errors you find.

This report from Harvey Rosen is being sent to Edna Renick on December 15 of the current year. The title of the report is overdue balances. The body of the report should read as follows:

All account balances should be brought up to date by sending out overdue account balance letters to each client who has an outstanding balance. It is important for Digital Solutions to collect all outstanding balances to assist with the following three action items: proper billing, account services, and marketing of services. In this report I will outline these three action items in more detail.

Proper Billing

Digital Solutions must provide proper billing of services to our clients. This not only allows us to see what revenue stream we are creating by offering certain services, but it also benefits for budgetary purposes. Budgeting allows our company to provide proper staffing in high demand services, provide a clear line of communication, and superb customer service. Our clients deserve up-to-date billing so they understand the financial commitment to the solutions we are providing.

Account Services

Our financial department strives for accuracy when it comes to account statements and billing. When our clients have questions regarding their statements, are agents assist them in all possible ways. It is absolutely important that our associates are trained and ready to assist our clients with their account questions. This is a key element to our company and its foundation.

Marketing of Services

Proper billing allows our marketing department the opportunity to upsell or attach other services to our clients accounts. This will result in generated income or revenue that offsets expenses associated with already high demands on current budgets. Using information from current billing will enable the marketing department to also research new solutions that will assist our clients and continue to grow our professional client portfolio.

As you can see with focus on these three action items, Digital Solutions will be financially fit and looking for new innovated approaches to our clients wants and needs. The bonus to all of this information is that we will have generated revenue streams that are more constant and reliable.

Job 3: News Release

Key the following information as a news release using the Style & Reference Manual. Correct any spelling and punctuation errors you find.

This news release from Julie Smith should be released on April 6 of the current year. The title of the news release should read, Digital Solutions Trending Dress Code.

The body of the news release is as follows:

Digital Solutions a large company in Columbus, Ohio is ditching the suits and setting new trends with their dress code changes. Effective immediately, Digital Solutions will no longer require their officer staff to wear business professional attire. The company has decided to change the dress code to a more business casual. Employees of the company no longer are required to wear ties, but something that is more casual, but yet still professional.

This change is vasily due to current trends in the market and office environment. The company believes that this will allow for a broder range of new hires with its upcoming hiring group. Digital Solutions providing trends in office dress wear!

Job 4: Table

Key the following information as a table with borders using the Style & Reference Manual. Correct any spelling and punctuation errors you find.

The title for this table should read, Generated Revenue from New Clients. The table was created by the Marketing Department of Digital Solutions.

Table Column Headers are: Client Name, Phone Number, E-Mail Address, Potential Revenue Generated (two lines).

Below is the content for the table. Use this information to complete the table.

Sandra Richardson	765-555-5262	srichardson@att.net	$125,000
