APPLICATION

During this exercise, you are only allowed to use Notepad. The use of an online editor or any use of the Internet will result in immediate disqualification.

Screen capture of the expected result is included for your inspection and is to be used as a guide for completing this exercise.

When complete, submit your files generated for this exercise (HTML and Style Sheet). Also, you will need to submit a screenshot (using the snipping tool or screenshot tool) of your finished work as it appears in the web browser so that it may be used for grading purposes.

Your task is to regenerate the web page shown in the screen capture provided in this packet, using HTML5, CSS, and the parameters specified below.

1. Overall Specifications

- a. The documents must be valid HTML5.
- b. The documents must be styled with an external cascading style sheet.
 - i. ALL styling MUST be done with the style sheet UNLESS SPECIFICALLY NOTED.
- c. The document must not use tables for any sort of layout or positioning.

2. File Creation

- a. Create a folder using your contestant number as the name of the folder.
- b. Ensure you have the “dogsplaying.jpg” from the start files in your project folder.
- c. Create two new files called index.html and a stylesheet named styles.css; these files should be saved to your project folder

3. General Page Specifications (doctype, HTML, and head)

- a. The opening HTML element must include the language attribute with the value for the English language.
- b. Title should have Your Contestant Number – Fundamentals of Web Design.
- c. The head tag must have a meta element with the character set an attribute with a value of UTF-8.
- d. The head tag must have a meta element with viewport as the name and the appropriate content attributes.
- e. You should link your style sheet along with defining the relationship and type.

4. Nav

- a. The semantic tag <nav> should be used to enclose an unordered list.
- b. The unordered list should have a list of links to internal bookmarks:
 - i. Home
 - ii. About
 - iii. Services
 - iv. Contact
- c. A class called “navul” should be placed in the ul tag

5. Header

- a. Use the semantic tag <header> to enclose an img and two divs
 - i. The img should be the “dogsPlaying.jpg”, with alt text “dogs playing with orange bone”, and have an id called banner

- ii. The first div should enclose “Doggy Day Care Information” text and have the “centered” class
- iii. The second div should enclose “Your dogs won’t want to leave!” text and have the “centeredCap” class

6. About Content

- a. The about div will contain an h1, p, br and the p tags, in that order.
- b. The about div should contain the “sContainer” class
- c. The h1 tag should enclose “About Doggy Daycare” and have the id “about”
- d. The first paragraph should have the class “aboutParagraph” and contain the following text:
 - i. Dog daycare, or doggy daycare, refers to a short-term daytime care for dogs. It differs from multi-day kennel boarding and pet sitting, where the sitter comes to the pet's home. It shares similarities with a regular daycare for children, with the exception being that dog daycare is for canines. The two share the same philosophy. Parents, or in the case of the dog daycare, owners, have a busy schedule and the often-prolonged hours at work drastically reduce the time that could be spent with their children or pets.
- e. Add a break in between the previous paragraph and this new paragraph
- f. The second paragraph should have the class “aboutParagraph” and contain the following text:
 - i. The popularity of such establishments in the United States and elsewhere has grown greatly since the early 1990s and arose out of the more traditional kennel industry. Prior to World War II, dogs more commonly lived outside in the United States, but as urbanization spread, dogs started to live indoors more frequently. Other factors, including an increase in the population of adults without children, have gradually led to more attention and money being spent on pets. The first modern dog day care in New York City, Yuppie Puppy Pet Care, was reportedly opened in 1987, by Joseph S. Sporn. San Francisco, another wealthy American city, has also been credited for spurring the dog day care trend.

7. Services Content

- a. The service div will contain an h1, another div with three divs inside that each contain a h2 and p tags.
- b. The service div should contain the “sContainer” class
- c. The h1 tag should enclose “About Doggy Daycare” and have the id “services”
- d. The next tag is a div containing the “row” class.
- e. Inside the row class div there will be 3 divs with column class and various background colors, h2s, and paragraph text:
 - i. First div with the “column” class and an in-line background style with the #aaa color should contain:

About Doggy Daycare

Dog daycare, or doggy daycare, refers to a short-term daytime care for dogs. It differs from multi-day kennel boarding and pet sitting, where the sitter comes to the pet's home. It shares many similarities with a regular daycare for children, with the exception being that a dog daycare is for canines. The two share the same philosophy. Parents, or in the case of the dog daycare, owners, have a busy schedule and the often prolonged hours at work drastically reduce the time that could be spent with their children or pets.

The popularity of such establishments in the United States and elsewhere has grown greatly since the early 1990s, and arose out of the more traditional kennel industry. Prior to World War II, dogs more commonly lived outside in the United States, but as urbanization spread dogs started to live indoors more frequently. Other factors, including an increase in the population of adults without children, have gradually led to more attention and money being spent on pets. The first modern dog day care in New York City, Yuppie Puppy Pet Care was reportedly opened in 1987, by Joseph S. Sporn. San Francisco, another wealthy American city, has also been credited for spurring the dog day care trend.

Services

Dog Walking	Day Care	Boarding
Dog walking is the act of a person walking with a dog. Both owners and pets receive many benefits, including exercise and companionship.	Some facilities allow dogs to play in an outside environment. Others have indoor-only facilities, where dogs interact and play in an indoor area.	An overnight stay consists of dogs enjoying a staycation. After a full day of exercise and fun, dogs sleep in home-style crates in the same room they were playing in earlier.
