STATE FINAL KEY SCENARIO:

You just ended a meeting with Lynn (a new hire in the Financial Services Department and longtime neighbor). During this meeting, Lynn tearfully shared her concerns about being bullied and harassed by one of her fellow coworkers, Trish. Although completely unaware of Lynn's extensive qualifications for the position, Trish was firmly against Lynn's hire in favor of her son, Cash, who had also applied and previously served as a summer intern in the department. Specifically, Lynn alleges that Trish:

- Makes a point to stop by everyone's office to say "good morning" except hers.
- Intentionally leaves her out of company activities. Trish recently organized an office baby shower for one of the department's employees but purposely removed Lynn off the invitation email distribution list (the only department employee not invited).
- Shares private, confidential, and sometimes embarrassing information without Lynn's knowledge or permission (both verbally in the workplace and online via company and personal media channels). Trish's recent social media posts include zoomed-in photos and unkind comments of Lynn's prescription medications that she left on her office desk during lunch, with confidential customer financial data visible on Lynn's computer monitor in the background.

Lynn left your office very upset and is considering submitting her letter of resignation. Not only has Lynn not reported any of these situations to her manager, but she has also requested that you keep this information private as her "friend" and not follow up on these allegations in any manner.

As the Human Resources Manager, how would you handle this situation? In your solution, include recommendations using your Human Resources Manual as a guide.

A contestant will be DISQUALIFIED for violations of the Copyright and Fair Use Guidelines.
