Department Updates

We are excited to spotlight progress in our service areas and thank you for your support and confidence as we constantly continue to improve. In order to keep all departments updated and to continually provide the latest achievements, we are including our most recent activity in this report.

Systems Analysis

A former Digital Solutions intern, Chad Jackson, has been promoted to a full-time Systems Analyst. Chad brings experience and enthusiasm to our team, while continuing our high standards of service. His talents and knowledge of the latest in technology has been an incredible asset to our department.

Currently, Josh Jensen, lead analyst, is working on a complete renovation of our team's goals and vision. Although our systems analysis team is one of the best, he is always searching for ways to improve.

Software Development and Design

In Beta testing with a projected spring rollout, your request for network management software has resulted in a package that can push out image installations, track inventories, provide automated installation and updates, and manage backups.

Jed Stevens, lead software designer, is working on an excited project which will be announced at our next board meeting. His innovative mind, coupled with his extraordinary knowledge, will surpass any expectation you have. You will not want to miss his announcement of what will be the next greatest craze in software.
